Course Description

This eighteen-day course offers unparalleled opportunities to live and travel in Spain, and to see creatively while studying photography and design. Inspired by the people and charm of one of the world's oldest, most influential cultures, students learn to develop their photographic vision to breathe meaning and metaphor into images. Students experience full Spanish language and culture contact, visit locations ranging from Roman ruins to castle towers, and study visual art that ranges from Paleolithic cave paintings to avant-garde museum exhibits. Daily class & field sessions feature assignments rooted in the practice of color theory, design, lighting, and gestalt. [3-Credit Course]

Each day starts with students meeting at a Global Education Oregon [GEO] campus to attend lectures, hardware and/or software demonstrations, assignment discussion times, or critiques. The afternoon or evening hours are allocated to field session time at a destination suited to the photo assignment objectives presented in class. GEO Segovia and Oviedo are geographically well situated to enable the exploration of a wide range of subjects that are within walking distance, or just a short train- or bus-ride away.

Based in Segovia during week-one, we explore modern central Spain, including Madrid, Ávila, and La Granja de San Ildefonso; locations ranging from soaring cathedrals, castles and palaces to tranquil parks and gardens, ancient Roman Empire vestiges to world-class museums and clamoring subways.

In week-two, the class migrates northwest to Oviedo, situated in the "green heart" of Spain, the Asturias region. Spain was founded here in 718, but humankind has inhabited the region since the Stone Age. Hiking up Mt. Naranco, pre-Romanesque churches mark the trail leading to a summit with breathtaking panoramic views of the cool, misty mountains nearby. Incredible food, Atlantic beaches, and numerous Medieval sites offer a deeply picturesque charm to the old-world streets. Modern cities, friendly people, hard-cider cellars, seafood markets, and beaches, offer a wide range of possibilities to make photographs.

In the last few days we head east along the Atlantic coast to view Paleolithic cave paintings, and spend one night on the fringe of Los Picos de Europa National Park. Two nights in Bilbao, which hosts the Guggenheim Museum, puts the class in proximity to the historic towns of Guernica and Haro, and the Riojas wine region.

Both GEO Campuses have excellent living and instructional facilities. In Segovia, each student enjoys a private room in local-family homestay, with two students staying in each home. In Oviedo, our residence hall at the University of Oviedo, offers single-occupant rooms with private baths. Residencia Blas de Otero, in Bilbao, offers similar single-occupant rooms, and facilities to conduct class meetings and field sessions. Laundry, WiFi, some meals, and other amenities are provided in each residence experience. Students are notified of days and times that offer options to venture independently, and practice their photography at a location of their choice.

Digital Media Arts at WCC is inclusive of five disciplines [Animation, Graphic Design, Photo, Video, and Web], and has strategic options for students to consider, to satisfy their elective credits. Students majoring in one department can choose entry-level courses in other DMA departments to satisfy their DMA electives, with the objective to expand skills and proficiencies that offer deeper insights to inform their professional practices and final portfolios. Digital Media employment demands interdisciplinary skills & proficiencies in résumés, and participation in this experience clearly offers a great way to garner some of them!

Spanish Language and Culture

- Pre-departure, optional, non-credit course offering — SPN 4000
- Instructor: TBD

The core experience in Spain is supported by a short, non-credit Spanish Language and Culture course prior to departure, which provides students not only with useful language skills, but with valuable cultural etiquettes. Time is allocated with the photo instructor to discuss important aspects of packing and equipment preparation. The course is an optional component for students registered to travel to Spain, and its cost is not included in the Program Price. These class sessions are conducted on Saturdays June 30, July 7, 14, & 21 | 10am to 12Noon, and are conducted by a qualified, Spanish-language faculty member.

Summary of Language & Culture Course Objectives

- Cultivate an awareness of the country's synthesis of tradition and advanced technology.
- Acquire basic language skills and useful phrases when travelling in Spain.
- Acquire a basic understanding of Spain's personal etiquettes and expectations in behavior.
- Acquiring deeper cultural literacy abroad and an appreciation for one's own culture.
- Activate and manage a personal plan for an immersion experience in international living.

Physical Activity Levels in Spain

Prospective students should be aware that their time in Spain involves daily, easy- to moderate-physical activity. It is strenuous only by choice. Walking is the primary mode of travel during field sessions, and the use of a bicycle is integrated into a few local destinations. Please be aware that since you are choosing to live in another country for a couple of weeks — and leaving your automobile behind — your daily activity level is going to increase. Although much of the trip happens to occur in agrarian plains, Spain is a mountainous country, and therefore sometimes presents very steep grades, even on city streets.

Students should expect to be traveling almost everyday by bus, taxi, train, or subway. Almost all train stations in Spain require the negotiation of several (usually crowded) stairways before being able to actually step on board a train. Individuals with limited mobility are not prohibited from joining the trip, but should be aware that not all places are capable of providing adequate accommodations to get from one place to another — some train stations do not have elevators. There are other types of transportation choices available, but those choices have not been budgeted for in the program price. Please consult with Don if you have questions or concerns.

Personal Health & Behavior Expectations

Students registered for this study abroad experience are subject to being interviewed prior to earning their approval status. Some of the general questions may pertain to your current physical health status, and whether any current condition may create cause for taking preventative actions prior to departure.

Students may be asked to disclose detailed and/or sensitive information about their health and physical condition to Global Education Oregon [GEO] and/or Washtenaw Community College [WCC]. High expectations implied from each institution are that a student must maintain responsibility for their own health condition while traveling abroad. i.e. bringing and administering the resources to manage one's dietary, mental, and physical health on their own.

In other words, assess the course description, daily itinerary, field sessions, and demands of the course before committing to join the trip. << Prospective students are advised to review and download the GEO Student Behavior Agreement with this link >>

Instructor Bio

Don Werthmann is a Professional Photography Faculty member in the Digital Media Arts Department at Washtenaw Community College, in Ann Arbor, Michigan. Ranging across thirty years his career is immersed in photography and education. His professional teaching career, spanning over twenty years, includes the film & digital eras, augmented with web design & development, and lighting for film & video. He was recently elected Department Co-Chair of the Digital Media Arts Department.

As a Michigan native, Don's passion and appreciation for various forms of visual art and art history emerged when he was a teenager, which eventually led him to earning B.F.A. and M.A. degrees in Photography from Wayne State University, in Detroit. Immediately after obtaining his undergraduate degree in the mid-1980's, he worked as a freelance camera and lighting assistant in commercial, automotive studios in the Detroit area, producing national-level print advertisements & catalogs for many well-renowned auto companies.

In the early-1990's Don discovered a strong calling to transition into a career in photo education, which led him to spending over eight years at the Santa Fe Photographic Workshops, in Santa Fe, New Mexico. His tutelage under some of the most influential names in the photographic industry took incremental steps from student work-study, to teaching-assistant to being the Operations Manager for six years. Don was an instructor of two different, weeklong workshops for four years as well. During this pivotal phase of his career, Don learned to complement his instructional designs and learning outcomes with the organizational strategies and expectations practiced in the commercial sector of the photography industry.

The opening of the new century demanded earning a graduate degree and a simultaneous transition from film to digital capture workflow technologies. The combination of all these professional credentials uniquely position Don to teach with depth, the widest range of photography courses amongst his colleagues, which is evident in a list consisting of fifteen course titles ranging from beginner to advanced to mentoring to study abroad opportunities: see Vitae

Spain 2018 is Don's fourth study-abroad teaching experience, and his third visit to Spain. As a Visiting Scholar at the Japan Center for Michigan Universities, in Hikone, Japan, in 2006, 2008, & 2010, he taught a similar faculty-led course with American, study-abroad students. In addition to spending weeks living with homestay families in Japan, Nicaragua, and Spain, Don's international journeys have also led him to China, Costa Rica, France, Italy, Canada, and Mexico.

With outstanding logistic and curricular support of GEO staff in the USA & Spain, in addition to a deep infrastructure of campus and housing facilities, in partnership with the WCC Study Abroad Office; this promises to be a dynamic and memorable journey.

As an artist, Don is a practitioner in the genre of lyric documentary as his images are infused with curiosity, the lyricism of everyday life, and a naturally unfolding tapestry of events presented to the camera. He also enjoys producing expressive portraiture in the studio and on-location. His work can be viewed at Quatrain_fotographic.com

Lyrical Quires | Europe | GEO Spain 2016

In July and August 2016 I conducted a site visit to the Global Education Oregon [GEO] Segovia campus to explore instructional facilities, and the travel logistics of modern central Spain, including Madrid, and La Granja de San Ildefonso; locations ranged from soaring cathedrals, castles and palaces to tranquil parks and gardens, ancient Roman Empire vestiges, to world-class museums and clamoring subways.

After several days in Segovia, I ventured northwest to GEO's Oviedo campus, situated in the "green heart" of Spain; the Asturias region. Spain was founded here in 718, but humankind has inhabited the region since the Stone Age. Hiking up Mt. Naranco, pre-Romanesque churches mark the trail leading to a summit with breathtaking panoramic views of the city and cool, misty mountains nearby. Incredible food, Atlantic beaches, and numerous Medieval sites offer a deeply picturesque charm to the old-world streets. Modern cities, friendly people, hard-cider cellars, seafood markets, and beaches, offer a wide range of possibilities to conduct a Digital Photography Abroad course in the summer of 2018.

In the last few days of the trip I headed east along the Atlantic coast to scout sites featuring Paleolithic cave paintings, and Los Picos de Europa National Park. The site visit concluded in Bilbao, which hosts one of the Guggenheim Museums, and is in proximity to the historic towns of Guernica, Haro, and the Rioja wine region.

- » WCC is not liable for reimbursement of airfare purchased before 09 March 2018.
- » Students receive recommended flight information about carrier, day, and time.
- » Lower prices are available based on carrier, departure city, and other variables.
- » Students are responsible for on-time arrival in Spain, for the first day of class.

Options to Extend Travel

Airline tickets can be purchased as a group, but students also have the flexibility of using the carrier of their choice, and/or frequent flier miles to support the purchase. Students can arrive in Spain early, and return to the USA anytime after the course ends, until their tourist Visa expires. Students can continue to travel to other destinations from Bilbao [such as Barcelona], after the last official day of class. Student attendance required to earn course credit as noted on the course syllabus.

WCC Tuition is based on residency status...

Money Management In Spain

Spain uses the Euro. Students must set up a Debit Card with their bank [physically present in the U.S., prior to departure] to enable the usage of Automated Teller Machines [ATMs], to retrieve cash as needed while in Spain. Currency exchange rates shift hourly [impossible to forecast]. Be aware that this factor directly impacts costs. Tap the XE icon for live rates.

Credit Cards

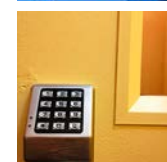

Visa & MasterCard work best, but their use can still be "hit-and-miss." Not all stores accept them. Chip & PIN technology credit/debit cards are the standard in stores, but also to buy train, subway, or bus tickets at kiosks in stations or airports. "Swipe" cards do not work in Europe.

Pre-Loaded Chip & PIN Cash Passport Recommendation
<https://www.travelex.com>

Traveler's Checks Not Advised

These monetary instruments are very difficult to cash at banks.

Can I Use Financial Aid?

Yes — Students that would like to use Financial Aid must pay costs up front, and then get reimbursed in May, at the start of the spring semester. Financial Aid cannot be used to pay deposits and pre-departure costs.

Are Scholarships Available?

Yes — Students must apply for Scholarships by 01 February 2018, and if awarded, can use the funds to offset some portion of their costs. Award notice usually occurs in mid-March or later & funding arrives in late spring.

Grading System

CLASS & FIELD SESSION ATTENDANCE

60 possible points
1 point is earned for each hour present in class activities noted on the Course Syllabus.
Students are expected to be on-time, and present for each scheduled class session, whether a class session is conducted on campus, or on location. Students are expected to participate in all scheduled class lectures, field sessions, and critique times. Class time includes work in our lab space on images for blog posts, assignments, and portfolios. Tardiness of 15 minutes or more is considered a half-hour of absence. Departing class early is considered unaccountable time, therefore attendance credit is not earned.

Come to class prepared to work, and do not bring food into any instructional space — please eat at home.

- Trips to stores to buy supplies or the like is not considered a productive use of class time, nor a reasonable excuse to depart class early.
- Contacting the instructor by eMail is encouraged if you find that extenuating circumstances will prevent you from attending class.
- Your attendance total impacts the final letter grade, so be sure to view the attendance table on this page.

CRITIQUES AND PARTICIPATION

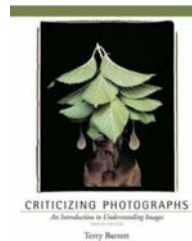

200 possible points
5 critiques x 40 possible points each = 200
Two images per critique = 20 points | Contribute verbally at critique = 20 points
Sharing work with the group and listening to constructive criticism is probably the most informative and valuable experience of any photo/imaging course. Students are expected to present a minimum of two images for each scheduled group critique regardless of the technical and/or aesthetic results. Images are expected to have technical flaws and in need of improvement. If images are not presented at critique then zero points results. The work itself is not what is graded/credited during these series of critiques.
• Student participation, and speaking about classmates' work during critique is credited. Students don't need to comment about every image displayed, but must express some constructive thoughts, or perhaps ask questions, to earn credit. The instructor discreetly keeps track of participation during critiques. If a student chooses to remain quiet during the entire critique, then zero points are earned.

ARTIST REPORTS

260 possible points — 5 reports, AR1|50 + AR2|40 + AR3|40 + AR4|80 + AR5|50 = 260
Artist reports are completed by means of the Internet research, and two assigned readings [noted below]. These are designed to encourage critical thinking and deeper learning by evaluating images created by contemporary or historically significant photographers. The final artist report occurs at a gallery or museum during a private viewing of a fine-art portfolio, and is evaluated by means of individual written responses and participation in small, and large group discussions. In addition to the aforementioned learning objectives, the final artist report is designed to support and inspire the development and production of a theme-based collection of images.

An Introduction to Understanding Images

ISBN-10: 0072977434

[5th Edition = high$$]

INTERNET BLOG / JOURNAL POSTS
200 possible points — 10 unique blog postings x 20 possible points each = 200
Each post is date checked to verify presence in Spain

- Ten, unique blog postings means completing the task on ten unique days/dates. Students doing all ten blog postings, to either "front load" or "cram" the task before the class concludes, earn 20 points total.
- Pre-departure and/or Post-trip blog entries are strongly encouraged, but do not garner course credit.
- Each post must include a minimum of one photograph, and a 100-word minimum, articulation of personal impressions and/or professional experiences while living abroad.
- Students are encouraged to be creative and introspective. The images are not critiqued or evaluated.
- Emphasis is placed on critical thinking skills, observations, insights, patterns, the unexpected, and the wanderings and wonderings of the time being spent in Spain.
- Students are required to keep the content professional. This blog is not Facebook, and is not a platform to call people degenerative and offensive names, or post content that distorts the character of others. Students using language or actions creating a hostile, uncomfortable, or an unsafe learning environment for others to remain present, or is determined to be degenerative, distasteful, or disrespectful to any person, race, class, or social group, can be dismissed immediately, and forfeit all earned credit.

PHOTOGRAPHY ASSIGNMENTS

320 possible points — 8 Assignments x 40 Points Each = 320
These evaluations are exclusive to photography Assignments One through Eight, and provide an opportunity for students to receive constructive evaluation of their image making progress. Images are evaluated according to rubrics representing various learning objectives and outcomes. Assignments that are not adequately represented according to their respective set of objectives are not fully credited, and cannot earn full credit if turned in after the final portfolio is due.

• The Course Description and Grade System function as work agreements or "contracts" for this class. Your continued enrollment indicates that you understand and accept of the terms and conditions of this grading system. This is a merit based system wherein every student starts with zero and earns credit upon the completion of work. The final letter grade is based on the total amount of points accrued from week-to-week, and it is your responsibility to accrue those points.

• If you have a documented learning disability and wish to discuss academic options for this course, please contact me as soon as possible. Information shared is confidential.
